

Announcement Regarding Conclusion of Company Split Agreement and Change of Corporate Name in Connection with Shift to Intermediate Holding Company Structure

Tokyo, December 25, 2009---Mitsubishi UFJ Financial Group, Inc. (“MUFG,” President and CEO: Nobuo Kuroyanagi) and Mitsubishi UFJ Securities Co., Ltd. (“MUS,” President and CEO: Fumiyuki Akikusa) announced in their previous press release, “MUS to Establish Preparatory Company and Adopt Intermediate Holding Company Structure,” dated November 18, 2009, that they would adopt an intermediate holding company structure. At the board meeting of MUS held on December 24, 2009 and the board meeting of MUFG held on December 25, 2009, it was resolved that MUS would transfer its financial instruments business and other businesses (the “Business”) to MUS Spin-off Preparation Co., Ltd. (the “Preparatory Company”), a 100% subsidiary of MUS, by way of an absorption-type company split (the “Split”) as of April 1, 2010. Also on December 25, 2009, MUFG and MUS entered into a company split agreement for the Split, as further described below. The shift to the intermediate holding company structure is conditioned on obtaining required regulatory permits and approvals and a completion of other necessary procedures. In addition, the Split is a company split between 100% subsidiaries of MUFG, and therefore, some items of information are omitted from the scope of disclosure.

Further, as part of adopting the intermediate holding company structure, MUS also resolved, at its board meeting held on December 24, 2009, that its corporate name would be changed to “Mitsubishi UFJ Securities Holdings Co., Ltd.” as of April 1, 2010, on the condition that the Split becomes effective. The change of the corporate name is subject to the approval procedure at a shareholders’ meeting of MUS.

1. Purpose of the Split

MUS, as part of preparation for a strategic alliance with Morgan Stanley, has established the Preparatory Company with a 100% capital contribution by MUS as of December 1, 2009, for the purpose of separating the supervising functions and the business execution functions with respect to all securities business operations within the MUS Group in order to concentrate each function to facilitate more timely decision making.

It is planned that, after registration to engage in financial instruments business and receiving other necessary permits and approvals, etc., through the Split, the Preparatory Company will succeed to the business operations currently being undertaken by MUS, and, as separately announced, the Preparatory Company and the divisions of Morgan Stanley Japan Securities Co., Ltd., such as the investment banking divisions, will be consolidated.

After the consolidation, we plan to enhance our investment banking capabilities to meet the needs for cross-border corporate reorganizations/M&A and global financings by connecting MUFG’s broad client base with Morgan Stanley’s global network, and will provide strong support to our clients’ domestic and overseas businesses through the more sophisticated investment banking services.

2. Outline of the Split

(1) Schedule of the Split

Board meetings (of both companies) for the resolution for the Split	December 24, 2009
Execution of the Absorption-type Company Split Agreement	December 25, 2009
Extraordinary shareholders' meeting (of each company) for approving the Split	Late January, 2010 (as planned)
Effective date of the Split	April 1, 2010 (as planned)

(2) Method of the Split

The Split will be effected by way of an absorption-type company split, under which MUS shall be the splitting company, and the Preparatory Company shall be the successor company.

(3) Allotment for the Split

Upon implementation of the Split, the Preparatory Company will issue 30 common shares, the whole of which are to be allocated to MUS in exchange for the rights and obligations to be transferred to the Preparatory Company through the Split.

(4) Capital Increase or Decrease by the Split

The Split will not affect the respective capital amounts of MUS and the Preparatory Company.

(5) Share Options and Bonds with Share Options upon the Split

No share options or bonds with share options have been issued by MUS.

(6) Rights and Obligations Transferred to the Successor Company

Assets, debts, employment agreements and other rights and obligations and the contractual status of MUS pertaining to the Business as of the effective date of the Split (limited to those stipulated as the transferred assets, etc. in the company split agreement) shall be transferred to the Preparatory Company.

(7) Prospects of Performance of Obligations

We have determined that the splitting company will be able to perform its obligations on and after the effective date of the Split.
